Subject: Kardashian in the morning, Zoey at night!

Hey Zoey,

As incredible and captivating it was to see the Spiderman movie and watch him switch aura and personalities was one of the major things I envied from the movie.

I mean...

He could make mistakes as Peter Parker and never get away with them, but Spiderman would.

That made me wonder how much he could accomplish with just a mask and a costume.

And....

His confidence as Spiderman was on another level.

Bet you never thought of it that way, did you?

Which is why VerdeVogue's idea for a corset was indeed inspired by the Spiderman movie, especially the part where he transforms.

We understand that belly bulge and flabs have a way of ruining our self-esteem and confidence.

We also understand how specifically the food tastes incredibly delicious after 11pm.

And that's super fine, because we got you! You don't owe anyone an explanation for your body. VerdeVogue's corset would literally keep your body's secrets.

Feel free to have that midnight snack, skip the gym that weekend and just be you without worrying if your body is going to look different the next day.

The exteriors and interiors were moulded to give you the comfort, self-esteem and confidence you desire. You could have the chance to be that stunning runway model during the day and be absolutely YOU during the night.

More like a Cinderella's fairytale...

And fun fact, Cinderella's fantasy became her reality. This is to say, VerdeVogue's corset shapes your body to perfection and in fact actualization.

Don't wait until you see others give testimonials and success stories before you take charge.

Avoid the old tale of "had I known". Now is your chance to get your fairytale happy ending. So snag a pair now! (CTA- link to website)

There's no way men don't have essentials on –the – go needs, right?

Why is it that purses were created for just women?

And the moment a man is seen with it, he is accused of being gay.

I mean... “where do I keep my keys, without making my trousers pocket look clumped or “How do I stop my wallet from dropping out of my pockets” – which by the way, is very embarrassing.

Imagine being stopped midway to your destination, to have someone tell you “oh look! you dropped your wallet”.

Dear Ryan, you are not alone because we have lived through these embarrassing moments and even called clumsy or heck! ruin first date impressions.

But right now, Men are standing up for themselves and redefining the male fashion game with purses....

Or what we like to call them “man bags” and at this moment, Verdevogues' male clutch purses are topping the chart.
